

The Daily Union-Verdette.

SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 2, 1865.

Uinta Valley and Middle Park Exploring Expedition.

To day, this expedition, consisting of the Head Quarters and Companies "A" and "B" of the Third California Infantry Battalion, Lieut. Col. Wm. M. Johns commanding, takes up the line of march with orders to proceed to Dwyer via Uinta Valley and the Middle Park.

The object is to open a new and nearer way between Salt Lake City and the point named, by which a distance of several hundred miles will be saved, besides gaining the advantage of a more southern and better route for winter travel.

The new route is believed, from preliminary surveys made, to be entirely practicable and the expedition goes out to pioneer the way provided with every available means to ensure success. Although a franchise of the road has been given to Mr. Holliday it will be of so much general benefit that it has been decided to give such military assistance in putting it through as may be found necessary, on conditions before published in the columns of the VERDETTE. In pursuance of an agreement entered into with Gen. Connor on behalf of the United States, Gen. Bela M. Hughes accompanies the expedition and, as it progresses, will make such arrangements for the establishment of the necessary stations along the road as will prevent any delay in changing the stage stock to the new route when it is completed. This can be done, it is believed, within three months, and we may expect the change to be made at least as early as the first of October.

Parties sent out on the road some time since to obtain information of its present condition, have recently returned and report that, except in a few localities, the swollen streams offer the most serious difficulties to be encountered. There are some places where grades will have to be constructed in gaining steep ascents and one or two that will require some blasting to be done in removing ledges, that cross the proposed road—otherwise no serious difficulty is anticipated, or none that cannot be easily overcome.

Altogether we think these companies will have a pleasant summer campaign, as the ordinary and incidental duties to be anticipated in opening a new thoroughfare will be varied by the daily adventures, usually met in a country entirely wild, and thus spiced, we imagine time will not hang very heavily on the hands of any among the number accompanying the expedition—at least it would please us exceedingly, if we were of the number. Maybe we may have a picnic with them on the forth of July, in Uinta Valley—faith, the idea isn't bad one and, if we can manage to shift our responsibilities to other shoulders about that time, without endangering the existence of the republic—but we most anticipate, only wait and see.

The Canadian authorities have intimated that in the event of a demand by our Government for George N. Sanders, Beverly Tucker and Wm. C. Cleary, they will be surrendered to the national authorities. This explains the sudden disappearance of Tucker and Geo. N. Sanders from Montreal.

Wade Hampton recently ran his sword through a wounded Union soldier, and it is said his fears of being tried for murder had something to do with his refusal to surrender.

One year men are to be returned to their respective State Capitols and mustered out of service.

Testimonial.—The following is a copy of a letter addressed to Lieut. Col. Wm. M. Johns by the officers remaining in Camp on the eve of his departure on his expedition eastward:

CAMP DOUGLAS, U. T.,

June 2d, 1865.

LIEUT. COL. Wm. M. Johns, Commanding 3d Cal. Inf. Batt.:
Dear Sir:—On the eve of relinquishing your command of this Post and entering upon the discharge of new duties, which will necessarily separate us in the future, we, your brother officers who have served with and under you, take pleasure in testifying most earnestly our high appreciation of your many excellent qualities, both as a soldier and a gentleman.

While you have ever enforced that strict discipline, which alone can give efficiency to the military service, it has yet been administered with the courtesy, which ensures respect and makes obedience a pleasure.

Being about to separate under circumstances, which render it improbable that we shall ever meet again in the service of our country, we know that these expressions of regard will not be attributed to any unworthy motive and therefore tender them with the greater pleasure, because believing they cannot be misconstrued.

Wherever fortune may lead you in the path of duty, we feel certain that honorable success will be always assured so far as energy and ability can command it, and, therefore, we have only to hope that your "lines may fall in pleasant places" and, to whatever field you shall be called, good fortune may attend you as will the best wishes of your comrades.

We have the honor to be, Colonel, very sincerely and respectfully,

Your obed't serv'ts,

Signed by all the Officers remaining in Camp.

The World very truly remarks that, for some time past, labor has been master of the situation. Laboring men have been able to choose their avocation and dictate the terms of their engagement. The call of the Government for men to fight its battles and run its workshops has been so large that the demand for labor has far exceeded the supply. A change must come. Not only are most of the many channels of occupation supplied by the Government to be closed, but it is said that 400,000 soldiers are to be discharged at once, and these will take with them nearly as many outsiders in various ways connected with the army.

Under these circumstances, it is easy to see that labor is likely to lose the advantage it has held, and that it may be difficult for many to find remunerative employment in the field of labor open to them before the war, especially as the immigration is enormous, and as large numbers of negroes will locate in the North. The remedy for this will be emigration to the West, or, under certain circumstances, the South.

COMMERCE AND POLICY.—Every commercial man is interested directly in the revival of industry in the South, which promises to follow the closing up of the war. And it is altogether proper to recognize, by a formal resolution, the promptitude and liberality which dictated the recent order of the President, relieving well-disposed citizens in the late seceded states from unnecessary commercial restrictions. The future management of the South involves problems which can hardly be considered propositions. The question, moreover, is one which will mark the great division line hereafter between opposing parties.—Nash. Press.

It is estimated that one hundred millions will be required to pay off the soldiers soon to be mustered out of service.

UNIONVILLE, May 26th.
Captain Wells, with sixty-five men, found the Indians strongly fortified on a table mountain about 125 miles northeast from Unionville on the 20th, on the north side of the Humboldt river. The Indians challenged them to combat, and flourished something supposed to be the scalp of a white man, and invited the soldiers to come and take breakfast. The soldiers attacked them at 3 P. M. and fought them in their fortifications four hours. Two soldiers were killed, named Godfrey and Monroe, within thirty feet of the enemy's breastworks, and their bodies, together with their arms and ammunition, fell into the enemy's hands. Three others were wounded—one severely. He came near being overtaken by the Indians, and lost his carbine while fleeing from them. They camped on the ground that night, and from the number of camp fires it was evident they were surrounded. The next morning ten men were sent to see if their retreat was cut off, and the rest of the command shortly after followed. Before leaving the camp in the morning the Indians showed themselves upon the mountain where they had the fight the previous day in great numbers. The mountain looked like one moving mass of Indians, and they were supposed to be 500 or 600 strong. In the afternoon they overtook the scouts and found them surrounded, and were just in time to save them from annihilation—Gold Hill News.

AN EXCELLENT LETTER.—C. R. Thomas, Secretary of State in North Carolina, under Governor Vance, writes to the Raleigh Progress: "I have never been a secessionist. I have been a conservative, by whatever party name we have been designated. To secessionists I would say, 'Go and sin no more.' To conservatives I would say, 'Come and let us do better.' A great work is before us at the close of this revolution. Domestic slavery ought to be, and must be abolished once and forever, in North Carolina; and when that shall have been done, reconciliation will be quick and general, if not universal. The abolition of slavery is a condition precedent to the settlement of our national difficulties upon any satisfactory and permanent basis. I do not wish to discuss the matter, but I am decidedly in favor of the Union, and the re-establishment of the relations of North Carolina, freed from human slavery, with the Federal Government in the speediest way conformable with the character and dignity of the State."

PEG-LEG SMITH.—This famous old trapper whom all old Californians know, recently killed a man named Hunt, near Los Angeles. The two had a quarrel over a land claim. Peg-leg is so called because one of his limbs being amputated he stumps it on a wooden contrivance. It is said that being wounded in an Indian fight and no surgical assistance being near, he performed the operation of amputating his leg, himself. Anybody may believe the yarn who chooses to. We don't.—Carson Appeal.

It is estimated that 7,000,000 persons had the opportunity of seeing the late President's remains while on their way from Washington to Springfield, Ill.

JEFF. DAVIS ON A DRUNK.—A Richmond correspondent of the Tribune tells the following, which he says is vouched for by persons conversant with the circumstances:

Previous to the evacuation of the city, Davis and his wife, accompanied by Secretary Mallory and Colonels Ould and Hatch, indulged in a pleasure trip down the James to the rebel fleet, during which "J. D." became grossly inebriated.

The returning party landed at Rockett's, and on their way home passed Libby Prison. Forgetting, in his maddling state, the respect due to the rebel sentry who was posted on the walk in front of the prison, he peremptorily ordered him aside, but was promptly brought to by the bayonet of the sentinel, who informed him that no one was allowed to pass his beat. Davis continued to order him aside, and at last the sentry becoming indignant, drew his musket to his shoulder and was in the act of pulling the trigger when he was implored to desist by Mrs. Davis, who threw her arms around his neck and told him it was the President who desired to pass: "I have my orders and can allow no one to pass," replied the sentinel. The result was that Mr. J. D. finally concluded, unlike the good Samaritan, to "pass by on the other side."

IMPORTANT ARREST.—We were put in possession of the following facts, several days since, but from prudential considerations, we have withheld their publication until now. On Monday last, a person giving his name as Col. Eugene T. Sullivan, appeared in this city, dressed in a suit of rebel uniform, and represented himself to be a United States detective. The appearance of the person aroused the suspicion of the military authorities, and in pursuance to orders from Gen. Cook's headquarters the fellow was arrested soon after stepping on board of the 12 o'clock train, bound for Chicago, on Monday last, and lodged in in this city. He was found in the water-closet in the car, and had on at the time of his arrest citizen's clothes. From papers found in his trunk and upon his person, it is shown most conclusively that he is Colonel of the Second Texas Cavalry, is a rebel spy, and was in Washington on the 3d inst., and since that time has made a trip to Canada. It is also believed by those who have investigated the matter and know the contents of certain papers found in his possession, written in cypher, that he knows something about the assassination of President Lincoln. He is an Irishman, about thirty-five years of age, five feet nine inches in height, wears a goatee, is rather heavy set, and uses a crutch and cane from the effects of a gunshot wound. He represented that he had a cork leg, which accounted for his lameness. He was taken to Chicago on Wednesday night where an investigation will probably be had.—Springfield Ill. Rep. April 29th.

The Union army after its permanent reorganization will consist of four army corps of 40,000 each; one corps of regulars, one corps of white volunteers, and two corps colored. The four organizations will be complete in themselves, with cavalry, artillery and infantry in proper proportions.

JUST AS IT SHOULD BE.—The Philadelphia Evening Telegraph, in reference to the loss English rebel allies will incur by the collapse of the rebellion, justly observes: "The late rebel loan was decided with the capture of Lee. Their bonds are not worth a penny on the pound, a mill on the dollar, and the effect in England will be interesting to us in America. The crash which will follow upon the receipt of the news will not cause us much grief. They have brought it upon themselves: let them bear the punishment. They risked as an investment their funds in Confederate bonds. The Confederate bonds are worthless, and their credit will shortly be so also. Frazer, Trenholm & Co. only opened the lists; long lines will follow, and the commercial crash will become general. The Germans have avoided making such investments, and it is principally upon England that the weight of losses will fall. The Confederate credit is ruined."

DESTITUTION IN VIRGINIA.—The New York Herald's Richmond dispatches show the terrible state of impoverishment in which the people of Virginia are now found to be, and to which they have been reduced by the drafts of the rebel military establishment on their own resources of all kinds. Hundreds and thousands of the inhabitants of Richmond and Petersburg, and the surrounding country, are preserved from starvation only by the supplies of food which the United States commissaries furnish them. Strong desires are expressed for the removal by Government of all restrictions on trade not contraband of war, so that facilities may be afforded for the resuscitation of the people of both towns and rural districts.—At present the farmers generally are without the implements or seeds necessary to do their planting, and unless these can be speedily procured there will be no crops forthcoming in the fall.

Local Matters.

COMPANIES "A" and "B," 3d Batt. Inf., C. V., under command of Lieut. Col. W. M. Johns, take up the line of march for Denver to day.

These companies will leave many friends behind who regret the absence of good men. At the same time a cheerful good bye will be given them, for they go in the service of our country, to render assistance to the Great Overland Mail route, to aid in the protection to the emigrant, and if need be, to quiet effectually the hostile Indians now infesting the plains eastward.

That we shall have a good report of our comrades of the Third we are fully assured, by their patriotism and manly, soldierly deportment. The Volunteers in Gen. Connor's command at this post have won the admiration and respect of all good and loyal citizens, and we can with confidence recommend them to the people of Colorado, among whom they are soon to be stationed.

The Colonel, his subordinates and our comrades of "A" and "B," leave us with our heartfelt wishes, and that they may, in their new field, win additional fame, is the earnest sentiment expressed by all remaining at Camp Douglas.

We respectfully beg the indulgence of our readers for the unavoidable omission of an issue of the VEDTTE on Monday next. On Tuesday, June 6th, our paper will be issued, double its present size. Its columns will be filled daily with the latest and most important news, such as Telegraphic, Mining, Agricultural and General Local Matters. We intend to make it in every sense the newspaper of the Plains. Our terms for subscription will be at the present rates, viz: $16 per year; $9 for six months; $5 for three months, and $2 for one month. Send in your advertisements and subscriptions early. We have also additional facilities for the execution of Job Work.

Bill Heads, Cards of every description, Posters, Mining Deeds, Certificates and everything in the line of Plain and Fancy Printing done in the very best style and on the most reasonable terms. Specimens can be seen at our Office at any time.

MARTIN the Wizard had an immense house last night. The S. L. City Theater was filled with a delighted audience at the wondrous feats performed by this great magician. He performs again this evening; the tickets, we hear are scarce.

A LOGICAL DEDUCTION.—The Dayton (Ohio) Journal is responsible for the following bit of reasoning:

"Have we another Andrew Jackson for President?"

Let us see. Johnson means the son of John; Jackson, the son of Jack, and John and Jack are the same name—Andrew Johnson is Andrew Jackson.

Andrew means strongly, manly. So we have a strong, manly son for President."

SMALL CHILD.—Recently the wife of one of the city fathers of New Bedford presented her husband with three children at a birth. The delighted father took his little daughter, four years of age, to see her new relations. She looked at the diminutive little beings a few moments, when, turning to her father, she inquired, "Pa, which one are you going to keep?"

The first man killed in this war was Daniel Howe, of New York at Fort Sumter, in 1861, by the premature discharge of a gun. (His name has been frequently and erroneously reported as Hough.)

The paying teller of the Commercial Bank of Philadelphia, disappeared very suddenly on the afternoon of the 1st inst., and it was afterwards ascertained that he is a defaulter to the amount of about $150,000.

Reports from New Orleans state that the Mexican Liberals under Cortinas are making progress. Monterey is said to have been occupied by them, and Matamoros is seriously threatened.

"Perley" telegraphs to the Boston Journal that there is no truth whatever in the report that the head and heart of Booth were removed before the body was buried.

A MAN recently went to General Thomas and asked him not to hang a noted guerilla, giving as a reason that the war was at an end. "I guess that we shall have time to hang this fellow," responded the General.

Four men were killed on the receipt of the news of the assassination of President Lincoln, in New Orleans, for rejoicing over his death.
